A Helpful Wish

If I were granted a wish to help someone or something, I would like to help the Formosan Black Bear. Just like other bears, it is huge and furry; however, its most apparent characteristic is the "V" on its chest. Since it is an endangered animal, I am willing to give it a hand.

It may sound wierd to devote such a valuable wish to bears; nevertheless, I think they deserve it. These bears are originated from Taiwan, thus they represent Taiwan. In addition, they were not endangered at first but killed by humans gradually and now less Formosan Black Bears can be seen. Sadly, not many people view this as a serious issue; instead, they focus on the cute panda baby, Yuanzai. How can people care so much about the panda but neglect our Taiwanese bears?

If my wish came true, there would be more Formosan Black Bears; as a result, people would have more chance to see them. As long as people know how precious and important these bears are, they would never poach them and hurt them. Finally, these bears can even be a symbol of Taiwan and attract people all over the world to see how special these Taiwanese bears are.
